WHAT HOLDS THEM?

M. DE JOUVENEL, head of the French delegation to the league of nations, and who has occupied the center of the stage in the fourth act of that comedy, speaking to the disarmament committee, said: "Europe was unable to wait for America to join the war. Today she is unable to wait for America to join in the reconstruction of the war's ruins. The league of nations is impossible without America. But we cannot afford to wait."

Well, for pity's sake, go ahead, then, and do something. The whole situation in Europe has been tied up by the French attitude on reparations. The league itself is powerless to do anything because France and Great Britain, who boss the league, can't get together and agree on a constructive policy. Unless the skulls of European statesmen are solid ivory they must have known for two years at least that America was not coming into the league, and there has been no excuse for them to wait on America. A certain Congressman, in the days of reconstruction following the American Civil War, said it the South would raise less hell and more hogs she would soon get back to normal. Eventually the South adopted the suggestion and that is a very prosperous section of the country today. Why does not M. de Jouvenel translate the American Congressman's statement into French and give it to the league? America is not asking Europe to wait.

STATESMANSHIP of the highest order was displayed by President Harding when he said, in concluding his bonus bill veto, that "nations can only survive where taxation is restrained from the limits of oppression, where the public treasury is locked against class legislation, but ever open to public necessity and prepared to meet all essential obligations. Such a policy makes a better country for which to fight, or to have fought, and affords a surer biding place in which to live and attain."

A FURTHER drop in wages and living conditions in Europe is anticipated by the new tariff bill, which gives the President authority to increase any rate in the bill should that be necessary to equalize the difference in cost of production at home and abroad. Even when Congress is not in session our industries will be amply protected. The President will not hesitate to act should the occasion arise.

A CUT of about $650,000,000 is expected in the national revenue for next year, but President Harding is determined that the appropriations shall be framed so as to come within the probable receipts. The total Treasury income for next year is placed at $3,198,000,000, and the budget bureau is now devoting its efforts to bringing the estimated Federal expenditures within [illegible]

UNDER the seniority rule railway employes take precedence in the order of length of service where other points of merit are equal. There is nothing in the rules to prevent or hinder a day laborer from attaining any height in the service he can demonstrate his fitness to fill. There is always room at the top.

DIZZY MOTORIST SAVED BY CAPSULE

Dangerous Stomach Gas Relieved by Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules

Many motorists know what a harrowing experience it is to have a sudden attack of dizziness, brought on by indigestion. Everything goes black, control of the car is lost and unless driving is stopped until relief can be had a dangerous accident may follow.

F. H. Foster, of Dorchester, Mass., tells how a motoring friend overcame this trouble. He writes: "The Little Wonder Capsules received and they have been doing wonders not only in my family but with a couple of friends, one of them, who had to stop his auto on account of dizziness from gas on the stomach, has found that one capsule a day gives the needed relief. Personally they give me relief from starchy indigestion, and I have never found anything work as well."

If you suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion or constipation get this quick relief today.

Feed for Feathers

Feathers contain 87% protein. A hen must have protein to form feathers and lay eggs, yet most summer feeds contain little protein. You can avoid an egg slump next winter by feeding the guaranteed egg and feather making rations. Purina Chows put on feathers fast. They keep hens laying when cold weather cuts off the yield of improperly fed flocks.

You can't neglect your hens now and expect a heavy egg yield next winter. Feed for winter eggs now. Let your hens show you how much proper feeding counts.

Mr. Carpenter says—

That order of Layrite flooring that I used last week was about the best buy I ever made.

I have always wondered why some of these Southern Pine Mills did not conceive the idea before of making a carefully manufactured line of flooring, instead of hurrying up flooring that is hard to match up properly. At last I have found some in which every piece is perfect and every piece matches every other piece.

Fine—it sure does "Layrite" and my customers know it.

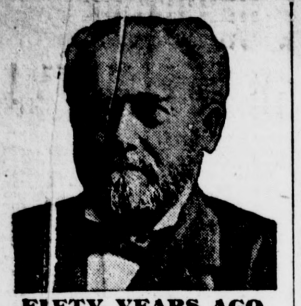
The Transcript, $1 Per Year



FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who finally made up his mind to place some of his medicines before the public, and moving to Buffalo, N. Y., put up what he called his "Favorite Prescription," and placed it with the druggists in every state.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womankind. After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged-down by weaknesses of her sex—a woman is quickly restored to health by its use. Thousands of women testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription has entirely eradicated their distressing ailments.

More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's, called An-uric (for kidneys and backache), has been successfully used by many thousands who write Dr. Pierce of the benefits received—that their backache, rheumatism, and other symptoms of uric acid deposits in joints or muscles have been completely conquered by its use.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. of any of his remedies, or write for free medical advice.

A TRUE RAT STORY

Auburntown, Tenn., 6-22-22.

Stearns Electric Paste Co.,

Dear Sirs: Mr. Robert T. Donnell of Auburntown, Tenn., came in our store the other day and wanted something to kill rats, so I sold him a box Stearns Rat Paste. And he put some giffe on six biscuits that night and the next morning he found fifty-four big rats. And the second night he put out four more biscuits with paste on them, and the second morning he found seventeen more rats, making a total of seventy-one rats in two nights, and there were lots more that he did not find.

This is some big rat tale, but, nevertheless, it is so. Just thought would write to let you know that your rat paste is good.

Respectfully, KENNEDY BROTHERS.

Descendant of Mary's Lamb.

Col. Thomas Powell of Columbus, Ohio, veteran of the Civil war and brother of the famous Gen. Eugene Powell, is the proud owner of "Lawnmower," the only living descendant of Mary's little lamb. The original Mary was Mary Sawyer of Sterling, Mass., who was eight years old at the time celebrated by the poem in 1814. The immortal verses, by the way, were written by John Roulston.—From the Argonaut.

Suede to Adorn New Fall Suits

Early autumn days, with vibrating visits between town and country, bring with them the necessity for garments which are at once dressy enough for the few hours of fall shopping in town and yet are simple enough for the country, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune. Paris dressmakers, who study to the most minute detail the needs of their customers, have prepared garments of this description, models in tailored suits and dresses which carry a suggestion of winter in weight and color.

Suede has taken an important place in dress for the coming autumn and winter. Last spring this leather was exploited in a limited way. Suede hats were brought out in Paris, but were not received enthusiastically in this country, one objection to them being that they were too warm for summer wear.

That designers still pin their faith to suede is evinced by the fact that they are using it in a liberal way for frocks, suits and coats as well as in millinery. It is charmingly combined with the woolen fabrics that we have come to associate with winter.

Wool and Suede Combine.

Among the most attractive of the new models is Vionnet's velours de laine and suede suit, which consists of a gilet with sleeves made of suede and a sleeveless jacket and skirt of velours de laine of a soft quality which looks like reindeer skin. This lovely fawn brown tone is much used by this famous maker.

With this was ordered a charming hat made of suede to match and trimmed with a large, flat, flower-like ornament cut from the leather and posed carelessly on the brim at one side.

One of Lanvin's newest outdoor dresses is of khaki serge and perforated suede. The low waistline bodice is of the perforated leather. Each small eyelet has a ring of self-tone embroidery. The skirt, which consists of a series of plaited panels interspersed with plain ones, is of kasha serge.

A single strip of the cloth forms a straight band trimming down the front of the blouse and outlines slashed pockets over the left breast. There are two of these pockets, one directly above the other. This is a favorite method of placing pockets this season.

To complete this charming costume there is a small leather hat with a round crown and a rolling brim which turns up abruptly at the back, where it is trimmed with a quill-shaped ornament of wing feathers to match the suede in color.

Madame Jenny of Paris comes forward this autumn with a dress made of natural colored cashmere, woven something like a jersey. In color it is quite like natural colored wool underwear. Smart women are affecting this dress. Madame Jenny is also having great success with a model of this wool and trimmed with leather.

With a frock of this sort a leather hat is usually worn, a typical model being in colonial shape with a closely creased brim forming points just over the ears. This hat, worn low on the head, is extremely coquettish.

A logical place for the use of leather in clothes for the autumn is in the short separate jacket, which has been during the entire summer one of the strongest notes in fashions. The interesting cloths that have been used for these jackets will be varied by leather and fur for the autumn. One designer specializes in jackets of blistered or embossed leather.

With these coats skirts of wool are worn. These are fairly short, usually about eight inches from the ground. The longer skirts are reserved for more formal wear. Of course, there are those who will always exaggerate the length of their skirts. The woman who wore her skirt to her knees during the period of short skirts now wears them almost to the ground.

Long and Slender Coats.

It would appear that style creators invariably reason that the taste of the public will swing from one extreme to another. Consequently, they no sooner see a bit of their own handiwork become popular than they launch something in direct opposition to it. So we have the very long, slender coat which wraps quite closely about the body, many of them being extremely tight about the hips.

These are of both silk and cloth and in many instances elaborately braided or embroidered. Fine plaiting frequently is used on these coats in the form of panels. The use of plaited panels continues in coats, skirts and frocks.

There is a steady increase in the use of woolen fabrics for dresses. For a time it looked almost as if they had been supplanted by silks. But the wheel of fashion turns slowly and steadily so that after a long period of silk we see woolens in stronger favor than they have been in several years.

Woolens for One-Piece Dress.

This does not mean that they will supplant silks, but that their use for the simple one-piece frock is steadily increasing. In the medium-priced models Poiret twills, gaberdines and serges are always in use, because they are practical and durable. Among the more exclusive cloths this autumn are repps, jacquard brocades and woolens with blistered patterns.

The outline or silhouette of all dress has remained practically unchanged for several seasons, and for this reason we have had to depend largely upon materials for novelty. This has meant an unusual development in the art of weaving. Fabric makers have not fallen short of the great things expected of them.

Evening Bags Match Gown

Paris is having a big season on novelty purses and hand-bags for both day and evening wear. Beautiful and unusual types are now being shown. There seems to be no end to the bag designer's genius for new designs, for they are becoming a weekly event.

Faille silk, moire and suede are the most popular materials for the new purses. Of course, in the novelty class there are models of tapestry and others made of suede and fur combined or of all fur. The monkey pelt plays no inconsiderable part in the bag-making industry.

The popularity of velvets and metallic brocades in evening dresses has inspired bag makers to create all sorts of interesting purses for evening wear. There are metal brocades on which outline embroidery is done in steel or crystal beads, with some pronounced feature of the brocade accentuated by the bead tracing. Many of the pouch-shaped models have metal frames imitating rare handsome antique specimens, while there are other exquisite bags of lame mounted with carved old ivory frames and clasps.

Handsome gold brocades and gold-embroidered materials from Rodier are being made up into handbags for evening wear. These have the carved wood mountings or galalith enameled in color combined with gilded bronze. Persian and Japanese patterns in embroidered silk cashmere, showing the combination of gold and silver threads, are much used for novelty bags. The elaborate brocades just mentioned are in high colors, while the cashmere designs and mixtures in subdued colorings are preferred to marked patterns.

Favorite Style.

So successful has the Dutch cap style of headdress become in the bride that some designers have made an altogether Dutch costume to go with it. The skirt is extremely full and gathered into the waist in peasant style. The bodice is rather snug and plain, but is crossed at the neck by a softly folded fichu. Usually the skirt is long, coming to the instep. With this picturesque dress, the Dutch cap is especially becoming.

SOME WAYS TO USE SCRAPS OF SILK

Long Strips of Waste May Be Converted Into Boudoir Cap; Add Girdle to Frock.

What to do with those odd bits of silk that accumulate from the sewing room need be no problem to the woman of ingenuity. Each colorful bit may be put to a different use, so that a host of dainty accessories may be included in the wardrobe.

Have you a strip of silk, satin or georgette that seems hopeless? Cut it through lengthwise and alternate these strips with strips of lace or contrasting silk until you have a length of a yard and a half and a width of ten inches. The lower strip is faced with a length of narrow ribbon about once inch from the edge. Through this is run a length of silk elastic and the top is drawn into a rosette, fashioning when complete a charming boudoir cap.

Have you a simple frock that would welcome a touch of color via the string girdle? A white crepe frock may be lighted charmingly by the addition of a string girdle in any of the shades of rose or blue. Cut your strips on the bias if possible and sew up both edges into a seam. Turn the material inside out, and stuff the ends with cotton. Pack down the cotton and draw thread around it to form a small ball on each end of the straight girdle.

Applique flowers for trimming sashes, frocks or hats may be cut from colorful bits of taffeta and stitched with black floss to the article. Orange flowers with green leaves lend a fascinating touch to the brim of a navy taffeta hat. Cut from green taffeta in the shape of apples or pears, they make dainty trimmings for any of the articles mentioned.

Ribbon Is Used.

For general wear navy frocks have not taken second place to any of the almost innumerable vivid shades that have been so much talked about this season.

Silks and Velvets Popular; Winter Hats Now Appear

FOR afternoon and evening dresses, fashion at present seems to have eyes only for silks and velvets in lustrous, and often intricate, weaves. These new weaves bring to designers fabrics that are rich and elaborate, but continue to be supple and clinging, as they must be to keep up with the enthusiasm for draperies.

The new fabrics merit study; some of them are printed in raised designs, others have surfaces described as "blistered," "fluted" or "crinkled," they are all descendants of the metalasse of other days.

In the face of all these charming debutantes among fabrics, satin charmeuse and crepe de chine continue to lead the procession of beautiful fabrics for fall. Other things may come and go, but they seem destined to go on forever—too fascinating to be neglected.

The handsome and very interesting afternoon frock pictured might be developed in any of the new fabrics, but it is shown made of brown charmeuse. It is a masterpiece of beautiful draping. It has a tunic, with uneven hemline, merging into long ends at each side, and into a crushed girdle, of the satin. The tunic falls over a draped underskirt and, the plain, long bodice has large, flaring sleeves and a chic bateau neckline. Cord, covered with the satin, is used for making ornaments that embellish the sleeves and each side of the girdle. The same cord makes a border for the neck line.

When Tennyson sang of "the splendor dear to women" he revealed his insight into one of their oft-returning moods; they betray a love for splendor every once in a while.

In millinery, and especially in winter millinery, there is a chance for a bit of splendor for everyone. Fabrics are rich, brocades and metal tissues are dazzling, plumage is gorgeous, embroideries and trimmings draw inspiration from Persia and India (and we look to the East for splendor). A little group of four hats, shown herewith, reflects that regal note that appears in all the styles. The velvet-covered shape at the top of the group, in dark brown Lyons velvet, becomes the background for a royal parrot in startling colors, embroidered against the front crown and trailing off to the edge of the wide brim at the right. The texture of the rich velvet measures up to the glory of his plumage.

An off-the-face shape, at the right, is made of dark velvet, with a soft crown and brim facing of velvet in a lighter color. Cut-out flower motifs, of the darker velvet, are applied to the brim and outlined with brilliant bugle beads. One can imagine it in black, faced with almond green, or mignonette, brightened by a glitter of iridescent green beads. A more sedate hat at the left is made of panne velvet in rose taupe, with soft crown and upturned brim. The trimming is a heavy cord, covered with taupe velvet, and large satin-surfaced beads in the same color.

At the bottom of the group a fine felt heralds the return of these lovely hats. It is a tailored model with a very ingenious trimming of folded ribbon about the brim edge and a sunflower rosette, made of the same folded ribbon, posed on the crown.

New umbrellas are very short and some of them have a big ring at the top end so that they may be carried in this vertical fashion if desired. The newest models have 10 bones instead of eight. Leather, carved and composition handles are shown.

Easy Wear.

Slip-on dresses made with an elastic gathered waist are very popular and are shown in many stores. Many women prefer them to skirts or knickers and blouses for outdoor wear and the elastic waistline permits one to swing one's arms with all the fervor at one's command.

Cowl Effect in Collars.

A youthful collar expression that is noted repeatedly in the imported frock collections stresses cowl development. Most of the collars, however, introduce unusual back handling, wherein the collar ends are permitted to hang unreleased, or are diverted into some other section of the frock.

HAD REAL CAUSE FOR GRIEF

Small Boy's Distress Had a Whole Lot More Than Mere Sympathy as a Basis.

A lad in Washington got a job that didn't at all please him—shoveling the snow from the sidewalk in front of his house. There was a good bit of ground to cover. After about two hours' toil he began to cry.

"What's the matter, son?" asked a sympathetic neighbor, as he came upon the scene.

"A tramp came along and stole the shovel from the boy next door," explained the lad between sobs.

"Well, son," continued the neighbor, "it's a fine thing to be sympathetic, but you mustn't worry so over other people's affairs."

"It ain't that," added the boy, "I am crying because he didn't steal my shovel, too."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A UNION OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Healthy Housewife---Happy Home

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Helped Form Many

For the ailing, half-sick housewife such a union is impossible. Often times even the slightest form of housework cannot be accomplished. Yet the work must be done.

Many women struggle along for years suffering from some form of female trouble that make their lives miserable and their homes far from happy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped thousands of just such women regain their health and strength. Just give your thought to the following letters and remember that the women who wrote these letters knew how they felt before taking the Vegetable Compound and again afterwards. It helped them—let it help you.

Had Nervous Spells

Horatio, Ark.—"I had nervous spells and awful bad feelings. My right side and my back hurt me all the time and I had been going down in health for six or seven years. For three years I had not been able to do my work without help. I weighed only 95 pounds when my husband's mother persuaded me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now I heartily recommend it to all suffering women, as I have gained weight and health. I can do all my work, anything I want to do."—Mrs. JIM REARICK, Horatio, Arkansas.

Reading, Pa.—"I was a nervous wreck and could hardly do my housework. I always had to have help or I would never have got it done. Through the advice of friends I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my nerves and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine for my blood and I am feeling fine and doing my work all alone. I can recommend these medicines to any one, for they certainly helped me. I suffered for five years and Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines pulled me through."—Mrs. WALTER U. STOYER, 1218 Mulberry St., Reading, Pa.

Recommends the Vegetable Compound

New Orleans, La.—"I have found relief from my troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I praise it wherever I go. I could not do my work as it should be done for I would sometimes have to lie down because of the pains I had. A friend induced me to take your Vegetable Compound and I have got great results from it. I keep house and am able to do all my own work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine."—Mrs. T. FOECKLER, 1915 N. Derbigny St., New Orleans, La.

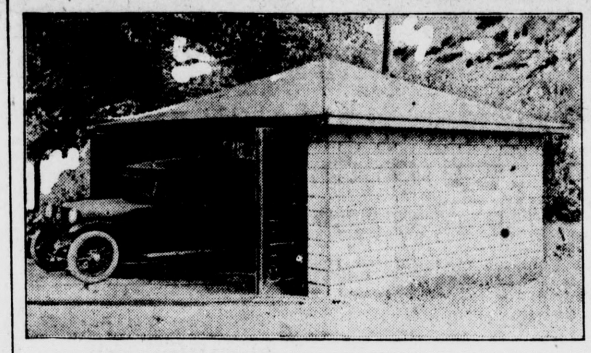
YOUR CAR DEMANDS PROTECTION OF A SUBSTANTIAL STRUCTURE



A Simple, Inexpensive Two-Car Garage Constructed of Concrete Blocks.

The amount of money invested in the average automobile or motor truck justifies a substantial garage that will afford the required protection against water, theft and fire. In addition to the fire hazard common to other buildings, garages have a peculiar hazard of their own, due to the presence of oils and gasoline necessary to car operation, making it highly desirable to build the garage out of some non-combustible material.

Construction of Garage.

This has been done in the case of the garage shown in the illustration where concrete is the construction material. In building a garage of this kind, excavation for the foundation is made to a depth of two or three feet. A footing of concrete is put in place, this footing being about 18 inches wide and 8 or 10 inches thick. The foundation wall can be continued to the ground line in monolithic construction if desired or else block can be used, laying them up in cement mortar for the sake of durability. The block construction is then continued up, leaving door openings of adequate width and height and making provision for such windows as are necessary. A fire-resistant roof, preferably of concrete shingles or roofing tile, tops the structure.

Concrete Floor Needed.

Every garage should have a concrete floor. This may be of one course construction, four inches in thickness being amply adequate. It should slope either toward the doorway or toward some point provided with a drain so that the water used in washing the car may be easily and quickly carried away.

POOR DRIVERS WASTE POWER

Much of the Difficulty in Hill Climbing in High Gear May Be Averted.

GIVE CAR SPEED AT START

Rough Places to Be Avoided, Since Every Bounce of the Wheels Means Certain Loss of Momentum—Don't Cut Curves.

Much of the difficulty in hill climbing in high gear is due to unnecessary wasting of power by incompetent driving. Many a driver "kills" his engine on a long grade simply because he does not give the car enough speed at the bottom and thus encourages overheating by denying the engine the advantage of the additional draft of cool air which is available at higher car speeds. Frequently this type of hill does not appear particularly steep, and the consequence is the driver does not feed enough gas, allowing the engine to run too slow, to struggle, and eventually overheat.

A source of lost power in hill climbing which is too often overlooked is the bouncing of rear wheels over a rough road. Every bounce of a wheel that is driving means a loss of momentum due to free momentary spinning. The solution to this is to give attention to avoiding the holes in the road or feeding less gas for an instant while riding over an unavoidable rough place.

A lot of drivers imagine they are gaining momentum by rushing over the rough places, but they would accomplish more by taking it easier. Unless the throttle is closed momentarily while the wheels are going over a very rough spot with the car in second gear the machine will ofttimes come almost to a standstill.

The practice of cutting curves when there is no danger in doing so has led to the habit of taking the short cut around curves when hill climbing. This accounts for the "lost power" of many a motor because the grade of the inner side of the curve is always greater than that of the outer side. The driver who in hill climbing keeps to the outer edge of curves—provided they are not dangerous—gives his engine the same sort of advantage Dobbin used to enjoy when his owner helped him up hills by criss-crossing from one side of the road to the other.

In hill climbing an apparently inconsequential thing will often mark the difference between making it in "high" or resorting to "second." Keeping on the crown of the road is just one of these determining factors. The driver who keeps getting off into the gutter or ditch unnecessarily increases the road grade when he again tries to steer upon the crown. In hill climbing every little thing counts. The point is to know what these points are.

GEAR OILING IS IMPORTANT

Correct Lubrication Lengthens Life of Car and Develops Higher Engine Power.

Besides lengthening the useful life of a car, correct gear lubrication makes it handle more easily, the gears shift more quietly and deliver a higher percentage of engine power. Attention to the gear boxes is much worth while. Gears, cars and power are expensive, but proper lubrication is cheap.

To Make Quick Stop.

When making an emergency stop, leave the clutch engaged, apply the footbrake and pull the hand brake; but do not "lock the wheel." Keep the wheels rolling; otherwise there is danger that the car might slide or skid.

Covering a Bad Scratch.

A deep gouge in the body of an automobile may be filled and covered with beeswax and resin, melted together, smoothing off the surface and repainting to complete the repair.

You Auto Know

That, in addition to the visible and external parts of the car which need attention—parts which are marked with grease-cups, grease-gun connections and the like—there are also a number of other places which should be watched, particularly as these are out of sight and may therefore be easily forgotten. One of the most important of these is the "universal joint," where the load is very heavy and practically continuous.

Most cars are so constructed that the housings which cover this joint may be filled with heavy oil and then left alone for an indefinite period, depending upon the average mileage of the car. But this oil, like other lubricants, thins out in time and also becomes clogged with dust and particles of metal from the working parts. Care should therefore be taken to see that it is changed regularly, for damage to the universal joint means a considerable expense and loss of time for repairs.

SCIENCE AT LAST DISCOVERS EASY WAY TO KILL ECZEMA

After Years of Unceasing Effort, Method Is Found to Destroy Terrible 'tching Eczema, Itch, Barbers' Itch, Poison Oak, Etc. —Leaves Skin Smooth and Soft as a Baby's.

Every person who has eczema, itch, barbers' itch, poison oak, or any of the various other itching skin diseases, will read this article with delight, because science has discovered a remedy called Q-RA-ZEEM that quickly eradicates skin diseases of a local nature.

Q-RA-ZEEM is a liquid and is applied direct to the affected skin. It stops the itching instantly, heals the sore, scaly or red, blotchy eruptions, and in a short time causes the old, dead, diseased skin to peel off, leaving the new skin healthy and as soft and smooth as that of a babe. Q-RA-ZEEM does not discolor or stain either the skin or clothing; there is no grease or discomfort of any sort. The cool, soothing and effective manner in which the terrible itching is stopped is delightful.

Unless the disease covers a very large portion of the body, one bottle will, as a rule, be sufficient. Therefore, $2.00, the price of one bottle, usually covers the cost of treatment. Think of the relief this trifling sum may insure. One Washington, D. C., man says, "Eczema for twenty years, two bottles did the work." Ohio man says: "Covered from head to foot with scaly, itching eczema, skin now smooth and clear, your treatment did it." Others too numerous to mention. We want your testimonial and know that you will gladly give it, after trying Q-RA-ZEEM.

Start treatment at once. Just send $2.00 in post office or express money order to The Q-RA RESEARCH LABORATORIES, 627 16th Street, Huntington, W. Va., together with the name of your druggist or dealer, and a full-size bottle of Q-RA-ZEEM will be sent you, charges prepaid. The Q-RA RESEARCH LABORATORIES also prepare Q-RA-RHEUM for rheumatism, Q-RA-TONE, a tonic for the blood, Q-RA-LAX OLIVE OIL EMULSION for constipation and liver ills, Q-RA-KID for kidney and bladder troubles. PRAYER CAME FROM HEART

Under the Circumstances, There Can Be Little Doubt Sambo Was Sincere in His Supplication.

Representative Christopherson of South Dakota tells a good story about a darky who was short of meat at home and selected his pastor's smokehouse as a likely place to get a nice ham. As he was leaving with a big one under his arm the pastor suddenly appeared before him and said:

"Why, Sambo, what are you doing in my smokehouse at this time of night?"

To which the trembling darky replied: "Ah, suh, Ah just come in to pray, suh."

Whereupon the pastor said: "If that is the purpose of this visit here, then you just get down and pray."

Thereupon the darky sank on his knees, raised his eyes and hands to heaven and offered up this prayer: "Oh, Lord, I pray that you now promptly dismiss us so that we may depart in peace."—Exchange.

Up to the Doctor.

Mrs. Potts' husband had been quite ill, but finally there came a change. When the doctor called and had a look at his patient he announced:

"He is a convalescent."

Whereupon Mrs. Potts regarded the physician suspiciously; and her suspicion increased when he made no further comment but prepared to go.

"Well, youse a doctor, ain't yo," she demanded. "Ain't yo' got no med'cine fo' dis heah convalescence?"—Exchange.

Milk of human kindness should not be turned sour by ingratitude. Some of that is to be expected.

Those who don't like "authority" are most apt to use it.

YOU MAY NOT BELIEVE THIS

But, if True, This Young Lady Is Very Evidently Not in the Class of Modern "Flappers."

A country correspondent of an Indiana weekly newspaper, who disclaimed being either a pessimist or reformer, recently wrote as follows: "The other day a man and his daughter from near Danville, Ky., passed through our town on their way to a nearby village. They expected to be met at the train by a relative, but he was late, so they had to wait for him for four or five hours. The daughter was a young woman of seventeen, but still wore her hair in curls. We were especially impressed by the natural girlishness and sweet modesty of the young woman. She was refined, too, both in manners and dress. Her bashfulness. There's nothing else to say about this little incident except that it is a rare and beautiful thing to hear a father apologize for the modesty of a daughter of seventeen summers."—Indianapolis News.

His Natural Inquiry.

"Land of Goshen, Runt!" ejaculated Mrs. Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "You're a sight on earth! Go clean yourself up right now. Take plenty of soft soap, and wash your face and hands and arms and neck and ears."

"Heck, Maw! What's coming off?" cried the child in amazement. "Is it my birthday?"—Kansas City Star.

The Chautauqua festival which began on Thursday and ended on Saturday night was highly successful as usual, all the tickets being sold without much effort on the part of those backing the entertainment. That the festival itself was of much interest and highly instructive, is attested by the many words of praise heard concerning it by a great number that attended the lectures, concerts and Junior Chautauqua each winning volumes of praise.

Daniel Steller, a well-known business man, of Essington, Pa., has rented the hotel property from Leonard Dickinson and assumed charge of the place on Monday morning, Mr. Dickinson having moved out to his farm near Taylor's Bridge to assist his tenant there in harvesting the crops. Mr. Steller comes here highly recommended and doubtless will serve the public in a manner to build up a large trade. In addition to a boarding house he will conduct a store, also a pool room.

Canning factories throughout this section have just finished a big season's pack of tomatoes, and a large pack of sugar corn. The actual amount canned is estimated at more than 40,000 tons of tomatoes including the amount that were shipped in large quantities to Baltimore factories, while the corn crop will average 35,000 tons. Not for several years have these canneries been so busy as this year. Although the yield was not up to expectations the local growers have mostly fared better from their tomatoes and corn than from lots of their other crops that sold extremely cheap. Prices for tomatoes ranged all the way from 20 to 50 cents per basket for canhouse stock. This gave an average price per ton well above the contract price offered to the growers before the planting season.

Three years ago Mr. Sartin bought a farm between Summit Bridge and Chesapeake City, Md., on the Canal. A short time ago he sold all of this land except 80 acres to the government for dumping purposes in widening the canal. We understand this is a very good farm, and are glad Mr. Sartin could make such a good investment.

Having passed another milestone in life on Friday evening, Sept. 29, Mrs. Walter Deputy was tendered quite a party at her home near Mt. Pleasant by her many relatives and friends numbering 75 in all. At eleven o'clock the guests departed for their homes bidding Mrs. Deputy goodnight hoping she might have 60 more such birthdays. TOPSY "JUST GREW"

But towns and cities don't become industrial and agricultural centers in that way.

For prosperity comes only through careful and conservative planning.

Foresight—and a broad vision—are necessary.

So, too, behind the local Bell service is an engineering staff whose function is planning for the future telephone needs of the community.

These engineers are just as much concerned about the present or prospective subscriber here as with anyone else in the United States. No problem is so small that it does not merit their attention and no difficulty has yet been too large for them to overcome.

For they are members of the Bell organization.

And all Bell people have a very real interest in the community.

Their ideal is to merit the approbation of their fellow citizens whom they serve.

They aim to give the best of service and to give it with courtesy for they know that courtesy pays.

was not created over night. Piggly Wiggly, as it is being introduced to Delaware represents the efforts of leading merchandise experts from many States during the past six years. During this time Piggly Wiggly stores have grown in number from ONE in Memphis, Tennessee, in 1916, to nearly 1600 in 394 cities in 43 States. They are now doing a business that amounts to approximately $7,000,000 monthly.

The profits of the Piggly Wiggly corporation are large, because of the low overhead cost permitted by the "Wait on yourself" method of handling customers, the large buying power and the locations chosen.

The reasonable profits and frequent turnover permit liberal and regular dividends payable to the stockholders of Piggly Wiggly.

Piggly Wiggly is now incorporated in Delaware, has become a part of Delaware, and will open about 30 stores in Delaware. Therefore, we feel reasonably sure of the successful growth of Piggly Wiggly in Delaware.

HAVE YOU BECOME A PART OF PIGGLY WIGGLY?

If not—there is still time. We invite you to investigate.

If you will 'phone Mr. E. R. Gibbons, at the Middletown Hotel, he will gladly introduce Piggly Wiggly to you.
